Improvement costs $2 million

Worth of savings during the past year, the Hancock County Electric Utility Board, in announcing its annual report, has announced that the savings were $2 million.

The savings were achieved by the use of radiographic inspection of valves. The approved method of inspection of valves in the high pressure gas system on the test stands was to manually disassemble and inspect each one. This required disassembling and inspecting each one. This required disassembling and inspecting each one. This required disassembling and inspecting each one.

When some of the valves were found to be defective, inspection of all similar valves in the system became necessary. A non-destructive testing and inspection technique was developed by W. L. Wedmore, Jr., Welding Engineer, Quality Control Site Support, whereby each valve was inspected radiographically without disassembly. This cost improvement not only resulted in a net savings of $149,607 but avoided an estimated 14 day program in testing on the all-cylinder test model of the Scrum V second stage.

Tighten controls

for MTF testing

Tighter control over test procedures at Mississippi Test Facility is urged by the board of investigation convened by the National Aeronautics and Space Administration to probe the failure of the Saturn V second stage last May 28.

Preauthorization tests were being made May 28 by North American Aviation, Inc., on a ground static test version of the second stage (S-II-B) when the tankage ruptured. There was no propellant on board.

The board of inquiry, headed by Dr. Kurt H. Debus, director of NASA's Kennedy Space Center, made these three recommendations:

1. Current definitions of work and test activities categorized as major, minor and troubleshooting should be changed to the satisfaction of the government.

2. The contractor should insure, by organization and control of work and people, that test engineers are responsible for hardware systems rather than work package and the test control center manned at all times by a well-qualified and responsible individual in complete charge of all test and work activity at the complex.

3. The government and contractor should jointly review over-all safety practices, procedures and programs at MTF in light of the accident.

Prior to the mishap, the stage had had eight firings of varying durations. In the most recent, on May 25, a hydrogen leak caused a fire in the area of engine number 4 and tests were in progress to find it at the time of the hydrogen tank rupture.

Early in the probe it was found that a pressure sensing line which should have been attached to the hydrogen tank was not in place. First the workmen had ended their day without reconnecting the line to a pressure indicator on the test operators panel in the test control center. The second shift started work without knowledge of the disconnect so that panel showed a zero reading when actually the stage was under pressurization with gaseous helium.

Indications are, the report said, that the tankage ruptured at a pressure of 23 psig. That pressure alone should not have burst the tank since it was well below the pressure verified by previous tests. Study of other areas of possible weaknesses showed the tankage already was under considerable strain from a structural viewpoint because of an ill-fitting liquid hydrogen fill-and-drain line connection to the stage.

The report considered that the primary failure initiation was in the close proximity of the fill-and-drain line fitting—considered secondary, was the previously cracked recirculation return line pad.

Evidence did not indicate failure of the stage resulted from an over-all structure design deficiency. Minor corrections are now in progress.

A contributory cause was lack of an effective system to control all real time and test work. The study found that the basis for test and work planning and direction was not adequately derived from systems considerations and interdependencies. Poorly maintained and tardy entries in the shift tie-in log books indicated lack of work control disciplines.

No violations were found of existing safety procedures but they were found inadequate to cope with the complex circumstances leading to the rupture.

APARTMENT BLAIZE - Russell Elliott, center, vigas smoke from eyes as R.J. Reineke sprays blazing character-rod at fire last Thursday in Bay Royale apartment. Both are members of Bay Fire Dept. and responded to alarm. Fire was limited to apt. 32.

Smoke hinders firefighters at Bay Royale blaze

Smoke caused most damage in a late evening fire last Thursday at Bay Royale Apartments, Bay St. Louis Fire Dept. men on the scene reported. The blaze was limited to a character-rod and rug.

Nobody was hurt in the fire, and no victims of damage were given by Fred Bono, owner of the property, until after firefighters had started extinguishing.

The two-bedroom apartment, number 32, was completely smoldering by adjacent units suffered little damage. One other unit immediately above No. 32, did suffer light smoke damage.

$50 deductible now mandatory on homes

Local insurance agents have been notified by the Mississippi State Rating Bureau that a mandatory loss deductible clause of $50 applies to all new and renewal policies covering dwellings and their contents.

The mandatory deductible, effective Sept. 1, will be applicable to all perils, whereas, in the past it only applied to the perils of windstorm and hail.

The bulletin further states that the deductible would apply to dwelling forms, household goods and personal property of individuals residing in non-dwelling properties, and dwellings under construction, commonly called dwelling builders risks.

Millie of Pascagoula, president of the Mississippi Coast Underwriters Assn., said the $50 deductible clause will be required on all new and renewal policies, including endorsements where the amount of insurance to be increased on existing policies, issued with an effective date on or after Aug. 31, 1966. Industrial fire policies are not necessarily affected by the deductible as these policies may be written on non-standard forms.

The change Millie noted, was made to offset underwriting losses which the companies have been experiencing in the state for some years.

Forest fire tally rates county third

Lincoln County, with 943 acres burned, ranked third in the state for forest fires during July 1, Ted Rounsaville, area forester from Poplarville, said Monday.

Harrison led the fire list with an even 500 followed by Pearl River County with 352. "Most of these fires were of an incendiary nature," the forester said. This is a polite way of saying they were deliberately set.

Without its own area forester since Arthur E. Verdel resigned to accept a forestry position with International Paper Co. in Alexandria, La., Lincoln County's needs are being met from Poplarville and suitable placement can be found.

Area dispatcher at the New Orleans office said the Rocky Mountain and two fire fighting towers are also standing at that location with their equipment.

Tells Gulfview faculty, '66-'67

Oren Seal, principal, Gulfview School, Lakeshore, said Friday his faculty for the coming year was complete.

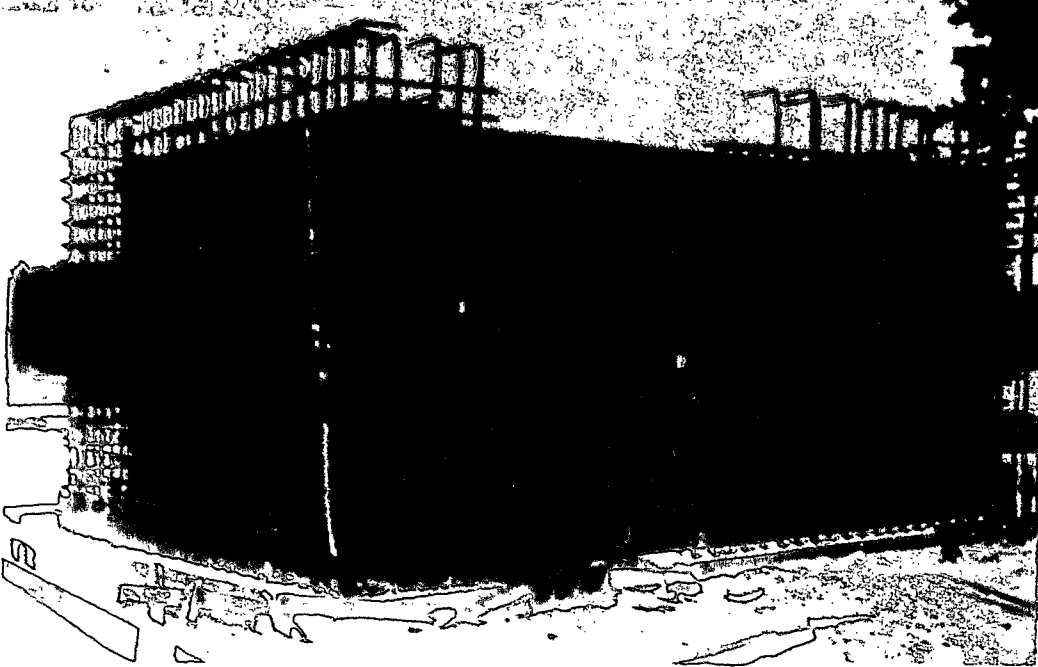

Teaching eighth grade, Seal said Herman Frick, Jr., would instruct the seventh grade as well as continue with his student athletic program coaching work. His son, Leonard will teach the sixth grade. Leonard Lyons, fifth; Mrs. Margaret Varrell, fourth; Mrs. Pedro Fuenzie, third; Mrs. Glen Hildebrand, second and Mrs. Chris Hart, first.

"Some departmentalization will take place in our top three grades before the first semester is completed," Seal said.

Picnics are first activity

Chief Cadet Jody Knight of Annunciation Church, Kilm and Miss Karen Hudson, president, Young Christian Ladies, have conducted their first official function since being elected to office on Aug. 6.

Under their new director, Rev. Emil Keil, the cadets and YCL members accompanied by their parents, staged two picnics at Catahoula.

PIGGY BANK - When building bank correct procedure is to construct vault and then put rest of building together to make sure it fits. Big money box here is part of Gulf National's new branch project on US 90. Bank is presently operating from temporary quarters adjacent to new vault.

Free tree seedlings made available to farmers

Eleven varieties of tree seedlings are available to landowners this year, according to Ted Rounsaville, area forester, Poplarville.

Now taking orders, the Mississippi Forestry Commission said Monday that applications will be accepted from now through Oct. 15. They pointed out, however, that certain varieties are in limited supply and orders will be processed on a "first come first served" basis.

Landowners may obtain 1,000 seedlings free by simply paying a 35 cent delivery charge. Additional seedlings may be purchased for $4.50 per thousand. Minimum orders for pine are 1,000 seedlings and for hardwood, 500.

HOSPITAL ADMISSIONS UP NEW YORK - One out of every 7 Americans was hospitalized in 1964 compared to one out of 9 persons in years earlier.

Species available include loblolly, slash, longleaf and shortleaf pines, yellow poplar, sweetgum, sycamore, bald cypress, green ash, red cedar and cottonwood.

Applications are available from the forestry commission office, county agent or soil conservation service office.

Jones' boys to scout game at Pass

At this stage of the game it looks like it will be up to Valera G. Jones' Tigers to upstage Hancock County's presence in public high school football this year and coach Willie Barclay thinks he has the team to do it with 20 returning linemen. Last year Jones finished in second place in the South Mississippi Athletic Conference.

The kids will get their first test this year Saturday night in Tiger Stadium when they tackle Leakeville. But the really big test is Sept. 22 at Pearlburg, home of last year's conference champion. Pearlburg is playing at Pass Christian Friday night and Barclay plans to take the whole team to cheer the game. Saturday's probable lineup: QB - Larry Peters, right half - Leake Jordan, right tackle - Harry Jordan, right guard - Robert Ashby, center - Albert Lee, left guard - Charles Price, left tackle - Gerald Williams, quarterback - Tony Ryan, fullback - James Peters, right half - and Joseph Leake, left half.

DRAFT TIES FOR 2ND
J.T. Cook of Pearlburg and the second place in the qualified area division of the annual Opelousas Fishing Race at St. Louis last weekend with a 5 1/4 pound bass, only a quarter pound under the winner's mark. Joseph Jones of Pass Christian took first and second place in the same division with 6 1/2 and 5 1/2 pound bass while the third place was taken by a 4 1/2 pounder. So the top three were within a pound and a half.

In making the announcement, G.H. Johnson, college president, said PRJC also has an Associate Degree Nursing program but this is the first course designed to permit graduates to sit for the Mississippi Licensed Practical Nurses examination.

The 30-week course will consist of 16 weeks of classroom work under the direction of Mrs. Shirley Hanks, R.N., and approximately eight months of practical training.

All instruction will be given in Hancock General Hospital except for the chemical and biological classes scheduled for Gulfport Memorial Hospital.

Application for the course must be 18 years of age or older and have completed the 10th grade or made an equivalent score on the General Education Test. In addition, he or she must have passed a physical examination, taken necessary immunization shots and the Mississippi Employment Service test.

Interested persons should report to Hancock General at 1:30 p.m., Thursday, Sept. 15, when a MES representative will administer the test for possible admission to the program. Further details are available from the hospital administrator, H. J. Blackledge.

Call football prospects for Little League

Plans for a football Little League are under way but no future depends on how much interest the youngsters show.

City recreational director Bill Johnston says boys between nine and 13 years interested in playing should report to City Hall Park at 11 a.m. Saturday. Qualified coaches and supervisors have been lined up but unless a substantial number of players report Saturday, the project will be dropped, he added.

Curriculum changes

With introduction of inter-ship program, Mississippi College will institute changes in its economics and business administration curriculum this fall.

Bank to sponsor Harmon forecasts

The Harmon Football Forecast, one of the country's most popular sports features, is to appear in this paper each week during the 1966 football season under the sponsorship of Hancock Bank.

In addition to forecasting the results of some 170 games as well as the New Year's Day bowl games, Harmon will rate the top 20 college teams in the nation.

Now in his 10th year of football forecasting Harmon uses a formula to arrive at the rating for each of the more than 650 football teams he follows each fall. The predicted score is simply the difference between the numerical rating on one team and the numerical rating of its opponent. His accuracy with college team forecasting over the past nine years has been between 75.2 and 77.9 per cent and with the pro teams between 68.3 and 70.1 per cent.

Born in Marshall, Minn. in 1921 and a 1943 graduate of the University of Minnesota, while he was in high school and college the powerful Gophers, under their great coach, Bernie Bierman, were national champions five years out of eight.

Electricity demands soar, air conditioners cited of Mississippi and Coast Electric Co. that the sizzling heat has mainly resulted in electrical demands of customers. Since customer growth during the period has been slight, both local power companies concur that the rise in consumption is due to increased usage of air conditioning units. Exceptionally hot weather and the dusty street conditions have led residents to seek relief by keeping their cooling units going, they believe.

But the spurt in air conditioner sales and usage has affected things other than the merchants' cash registers. Appliance servicemen are kept busy repairing overworked cooling units and both power companies have to contend with "blow-out" electrical transformers due to overloading.

Hammer Gregory of Mississippi and Carter sold transformers are designed to prevent "blow-outs" when fluctuations in the load occur. But there is a limit, and overload situations are occurring with the increased use of heavy appliances.

They request customers notify them when major electrical appliances are purchased and put into use. This will help prevent emergency service due to damaged transformers, Carter said.

visibly, weekendend in Birmingham, Ala. Another fond farewell goes to Ramona and Harold, who took off via plane Wednesday to seek a home in Wilmington, Del. They'll return to pick up possessions and find a home for their pet mixed Chihuahua and terrier dog. She's a short-haired, spayed female, very gentle with children and a good watch dog. Anyone who would like to give the little animal a happy home may call 467-7224.

Blackout

Wavelanders had just a taste of what went on when New York City experienced their big electrical black-out when the town was thrown into total darkness just about the time everyone was preparing their evening meal Saturday. Lil' Super Food Mart rose to the occasion nobly with car lights beamed on the entrance, candles and a gentleman with a flashlight escorting customers to their goods. There was such a run on candles that only the short, fat prayer variety remained on the shelves. Many were caught with dinner half cooked on electric stoves. Dot and Manny Hubbard and family just gave up the effort and drove around until service was restored; Teddo Thomas dashed around telling customers to turn off refrigeration units as they might be damaged when all the current came on at once; the C.E. Lirantes just ate their meat a little rarer than usual and your reporter shaved gumbo to the rather offensive odor of two small oil lights.

Geri and Sam Blanchard celebrated their wedding anniversary and Sam's birthday in a less spectacular, but none the less gay, fashion than usual over the weekend. Carman and Don Wickenhauser and Ruth and Max Ballin were houseguests; Nancy and Lucien Cox, Helen and Will Bordenes and Pat and Ron Jones, and Buddy Dancan, among dropper in-asts.

Wanderers

Bill Boggs and his son, Robert, came back in Waveland for the big holiday after spending the past two months in Panama City, Fla., Miami, New Orleans and Louisiana. They were accompanied by their daughter, Betty, and son-in-law, Paul, who were also in Panama City. Betty and Paul were accompanied by their daughter, Betty, and son-in-law, Paul, who were also in Panama City.

Apologies to Madame Colombio's husband Joe, for calling him Jack. (Little does he know we called Edna Kleingert's husband Albert, when it should have been Alfred, or vice-versa. . . anyway, he just changed his name for a few weeks for our convenience).

Around town

Rev. Terry Cress is the guest of his sister, Mrs. Dan Campbell, and family. He is priest of a church in Leviston, N.Y., and is chaplain of Community College there.

Junia Ward says her name may be added to the list of weeping widows. Son, Harry, Jr., who just completed a ten week summer session at East Tennessee State University in Johnson City with a straight A average, has returned to be an assistant art instructor at the university while he continues graduate work. When he was at home he had as guest his best girl, Barbara Fox, of Johnson City. The day they left Junia received a beautiful bouquet of American beauty roses and tried to tell the delivery man that she hadn't ordered any flowers until she read the card. . . they were a gift from Barbara.

Patsy Fayard celebrated her birthday in royal fashion, a couple of weeks ago, dining at Tchoupstoulin Plantation, then taking in Pete Fountain's and Your Father's Music. She was accompanied by husband, Bobby, cousins, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Orr, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Richardson, John Richardson and Major Manuel Richardson.

We're told that Les Tourant is slated to be a candidate for an eye specialist if he doesn't stop circulating his eyes nightly!

SIGHTS AND SOUNDS A-ROUND THE WAY

Male washers in their inevitable jockeying for position, usually driving an automobile, pulling an outboard with about 10 half-broke motor on the rear, large yellow machines, in the water, on the beach and, finally, all over almost every street in the Bay, and the racing of huge motors, as they pump, dredge, pound and clear, most unmercifully.
